

I'm from Hebron where I serve as Vice Chairman of the Historic Properties Commission. I also share ownership in Footehills Farm, a very large acreage of mostly contiguous land. Our farm is commonly described as the most scenic area of town. My "family" has been actively involved in Hebron town activities since the early 1700's.

One of the best political decisions by the State of Connecticut was the approval and establishment of the Community Investment Act. The targeted "beneficiaries" are areas of concern to all, and must be protected.

Since the majority of the funding of the CIA is through land recording fees, please do what you can to guarantee that these fees continue to be used solely for the preservation and protection of Connecticut's open space and historic properties.
